

LOST HIGHWAY

Quest, love and/or lost love, love and sacrifice, forbidden love, letting go or break up, survival post relationship, torment, struggle, travel, haunted, hurt, suffering, longing, dismay

Left my feelings for you in Tulsa keepin my hands up on the wheel
Oh there just ain't no easy way to keep a tumbleweed from goin' his own way
Thought I had you in Birmingham, dancin' the dance
You know it feels so good all alone with you, I wanna drive on with you again down that road

PRE CHORUS-

So who's leavin' who behind? Can you really get me off your mind?

CHORUS-

Well I know I'll have to drive the lost highway all the way to Mexico to get you off of mine.
Oh there's no road, no stage, no town, no place or borderline where I don't see your face
Or the trace of a melody or some kinda sign
Where I helped you make it through the night

Now I ain't saying that I'd steal your poor heart or all of your time
Oh, I just us to feel what's real for so long now
Three words on the steps of some fire escape in a bar down in Memphis
Well I guess all this confessin' is just messin', messin' up your mind

BRIDGE-

Tears into the river in San Antonio
I wrote you a letter and I buried it in the sand- just out side of Sante Fe
On my way back home.

PRE CHORUS-

So who's leavin' who behind? Can you really get me off your mind?

CHORUS-

Well I know I'll have to drive the lost highway all the way to Mexico to get you off of mine.
Oh there's no road, no stage, no town, no place or borderline where I don't see your face
Or the trace of a melody or some kinda sign
Where I helped you make it through the night
